He ultimately bought the Jeep dealership in Bountiful which he remodeled and operated for nearly 20 years. He loved his employees and felt great satisfaction in giving outstanding service to his customers. His entire life was spent in service both in public and private ways. At the age of 22, he served as Chairman of the Bunkerville Town Board. He served on the Davis County School Board, the Utah Transportation Commission, and represented District 23 as a Utah State Senator. Many people who were both friends and strangers were helped by Dan, usually never knowing where it came from. He was a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and served faithfully in many organizations throughout his life. Dan married Claudette Crawford on November 17, 1966 in Ogden, Utah.
